BURIED ALIVE!

Outraged by son's crime against mom — his brothers plant him like a tree!

Perverted savage Yang Chenli was buried alive by his four outraged brothers as punishment for a sickening crime that staggers the senses — he raped his own mother!

The horrifying details of Yang's beastly attack on his 60-year-old mother, and of his agonizing death at the hands of his own brothers was given unprecedented coverage by newspapers and news agencies throughout China.

Surprisingly, China's state-controlled Ministry of Public Information released the story to the world press, one of the few times that a story of shame was allowed outside the Bamboo Curtain.

News reports said the incident occurred in Nanyuan, a tiny farming village a few miles outside China's capital of Peking.

"Yang is far better off dead," one village leader is quoted. "We Chinese are taught to honor and respect our parents and to die if necessary rather than to bring disgrace to their name. It is incomprehensible to us that a man could even harbor thoughts of such an evil crime, let alone actually carry it out. Had his brothers not taken care of the matter, the people of my village would have done the scoundrel little from lynch."

The China Workers Daily described 35-year-old Yang as "a wastrel and gambler" who was constantly scolded by the village party council for not meeting his daily work quota in the fields.

When the council threatened to send him to a detention camp for malcontents, his mother dipped into her meager savings to pay a young woman $270 to be his bride.

The loving mother hoped that marriage was all that would be needed to make her son change his ways. But at the last minute, the bride-to-be, no doubt realizing that Yang would be nothing but misery for her, backed out of the marriage deal.

Rejected and humiliated in the eyes of his family and friends, Yang went off the deep end. On a day when his brothers were out of the house, he committed his horrendous act of perversion — he raped his own mother.

When his brothers returned home later that day and learned what Yang had done, they went straight to the office of the province prosecutor. But the office was closed.

Determined not to let the sun set without Yang being brought to justice, they set out to hunt him down like the mad dog he was. They spotted him in one of his gambling haunts and waited patiently for him to leave.

When Yang stepped outside an hour later, his brothers jumped him and dragged him into their car. In a secluded field at the village limits, Yang was dragged kicking and screaming from the car.

An hour later, the brothers had dug a deep hole. They dragged Yang to the edge and shoved him into the grave.

"The brothers said they filled the hole slowly," a news report quoted a police official. "They said they wanted to see the terror in his eyes and to hear his screams for mercy.

"Later they came and told us what they had done and where Yang could be found. He was not a pretty sight. I have never seen such agony and terror."

The identities of the brothers and the mother were not made public and police have made no indication that the brothers will be charged in Yang's death.

"They merely did what they had to do," one official explained. "They restored honor to their mother's name."

NO-NONSENSE granny Beryl Frizzell with the big cans of grapefruit she used to chase robbers from a grocery store.

Can-do granny clobbers three armed hoodlums!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A gutsy granny forced three armed robbers to flee empty-handed by bombarding them with grapefruit — in 24-ounce cans.

"These scoundrels made me mad coming in here demanding money," said feisty Beryl Frizzell, 41. "I don't work like people threatening me."

The brave grandma was working in a combination grocery store and post office substation in Birmingham, England, when three masked men barged in carrying an axe and blackjacks.

"I was just paring some cans of grapefruit on the counter and picked one up and threw it," said the courageous grandma.

"Then I just kept throwing cans and eventually they ran off," she said. "My intention was to stop them and I've quite a good aim."

Mrs. Frizzell has managed the substation for the past 17 years. "I work hard for my money and I'm not about to give it up easily, especially to scum who don't want to work for a living."

The super tough granny was commended for her bravery in a special ceremony conducted by Post Office Chairman Sir Bryan Nicholson.

"I appreciate the accolades, but I don't consider myself a hero," she said. "The cans were right there at my fingertips. I just used them."

Gal dies of fright in tragic jet ski horror!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A woman relaxing on a lake on an inflatable raft was literally scared to death when a jet skier zoomed by and barely missed her.

Housewife Barbara Reyes, 60, suffered a heart attack and died shortly after the incident on Lake Lanier near Norcross, Ga.

The woman was running herself on the raft during a Memorial Day weekend outing with other family members.

"Several hundred people were vacationing around the lake," said a police spokesman. "There were boaters on the lake and jet skiers.

"Apparently, the victim was startled and had a heart attack when one of the jet skiers came within inches of her float," he said.

Paramedics took Mrs. Reyes to a hospital where she died a short time later. Relatives said she had a history of heart problems, according to cops. Gwinnett County Police later arrested Adrian Stanciu, 36, of Norcross and charged him with misdemeanor involuntary manslaughter.

If convicted, Stanciu could face up to a year in jail. He was released from custody on $500 bond.

COPS say a zooming jet ski, similar to this one, caused a woman's fatal heart attack.

If Derek McDonald falls asleep he may never wake up — so his classmates holler at him to keep the little tyke from nodding off.

Hey, wake up!

CLASSMATES CAN'T LET BOY WITH SLEEPYHEAD DISEASE DOZE OFF — OR HE'LL DIE!

By DICK DONOVAN

The first thing Derek McDonald's school chums will do if he falls asleep in class is tattle to the teacher — because if they don't, their tragic little pal will die!

The 4-year-old towheaded tyke is one of about 20 people in the world who suffer from Ondine's Curse.

This deadly affliction is a disease that disables the portion of the brain that controls breathing. If Derek should nod off, even for a few moments, his breathing will stop and he will die. That grim shadow of death hanging over Derek's head is something his parents, Chris and Derek Sr., have had to come to grips with since the day their son was born.

In the McDonald home in Rayduck, England, a portable breathing device stands always at the ready.

And when he's tucked into bed, his devoted mom and dad carefully connect him to a more sophisticated electronic apparatus that will see the little tyke safely through the night.

Because his eyes must walk death, his 30-year-old dad must through weeks of soul-searching before allowing his grisly son to go to school.

Even then, Chris and Derek had a battle to get their son into a school for normal kids.

"School officials had wanted him to go to a school for handicapped children," explained 30-year-old Chris. "But he is such a bright lad we thought his progress would be slowed."

Finally Derek was admitted to a regular school and the other pupils were alerted to his affliction.

Gal bowlers win alley fight

The law has gone to bat for a group of lady bowlers who got kicked out of their regular Wednesday night spot on the lanes — because they didn't drink enough.

A judge issued a temporary restraining order directing the bowling alley to back in. Alley bosses booted the ladies' league out and put a men's league in their spot because the women didn't run up a big enough bar tab.

The American Civil Liberties Union filed suit on behalf of the gals, claiming

Cops call vicious killer of 11 'Jackie the Ripper'

By HENRY WEBB

At least 11 men have been murdered by a mad slasher — a woman worried cops are calling "Jackie the Ripper"!

"She's cool, calculating and cold-blooded," Detective Luis Perez Sola told reporters in Barcelona, Spain. "She's killed 11 men and she'll kill again.

"No man is safe. This lady murders whoever she can."

Police first began to suspect they were dealing with a single mad killer after 11 men, all in their mid 40s, were murdered one by one over a four-month period.

In each case, their throats had been slashed by "a large sharp knife" — and their bodies were mutilated beyond recognition.

"The murderer's methods are just like those of Jack the Ripper," explained Detective Sola.

"The only difference is that he murdered poor prostitutes, while this lady targets victims from all walks of life. She's already killed a couple of transients, a banker, a salesman and four businessmen."

All the bodies were found in alleys, he continued, along with other compelling evidence "that proves the killer is a woman."

There is no clear motive in the case. But cops seem to think the lady murderer simply has a deep hatred for men.

"It's possible that her father abused her," said Detective Sola.

"Or she could have been jilted by a lover. Whatever happened really seems to have turned her against men in general.

"That's about all we have to go on at present," he continued. "All we can do now is wait to see where — and who — she kills next."

Man nabbed for driving drunk — on a lawn mower

By JOE SMITH

Tipsy gardener Kenneth Ladd faces up to four years in prison after being charged with drunk driving — on a lawn mower!

Booze-loving Ladd, 37, told arresting officers he'd driven the power mower to a tavern because he was too drunk to walk.

Ladd has 11 prior convictions for drunk driving and was charged with it being found on his lengthy record, a prosecutor said.

Police said they nabbed the plasterer's yard worker after spotting him weaving down a Mount Vernon, Ind., street on his riding mower.

"The officer caught sight of him coming out of one of the local taverns and later saw him drive left of center, up on the curb and almost strike a parked vehicle," Police Chief Kenneth Hess told reporters.

"In my years on the department, I've seen people arrested for DUI on motorcycles and other vehicles, but not this.

"The fact is, though, he could have run out in front of a moving vehicle and gotten himself hurt or that car could have swerved off the road trying to avoid him."

Prosecutor Kimberley Kelly said Ladd told lawmen he'd just finished mowing one lawn and took the mower to the tavern to pick up a six-pack before starting his next job. He had the beer with him when he was arrested, she said.

"He said he'd been drinking beer all morning," the prosecutor said.

She said the suspect could be ordered to serve a four-year term suspended by a judge in 1998 as well as the four years he faces on this charge.

Lie detector proves her incredible story!

I lived with Elvis in 1981!

Barnold Elizabeth Prince was Elvis Presley's girlfriend — after the superstar faked his own death in 1977. The 44-year-old Atlanta, Ga., woman swears she loved and lived with Elvis for three romantic years, from 1978 to 1981. And a lie detector test arranged by The NEWS proved she is telling the truth! So startling is her story that Elvis fans will want to know it from start to finish. Here is what Elizabeth told NEWS reporter Susan Jenison in an exclusive interview:

I was working as a barmaid at a naval club when I met the man I later learned was Elvis. In August 1978, my club hired him to play guitar and sing in the lounge. He had taken over another man's identity, but he was still a musician and an excellent singer.

I got to know him, we became good friends and soon we became lovers. After a few months we began living together. Then, for three and a half years, we lived and traveled together. He did the Holiday Inn circuit in towns like Macon, Ga., and Phenix City, Ala.

This man could mesmerize his audiences. People would travel 200 miles to see him. He always had a following.

He was kind, polite, he could get people to do what he wanted. He was all the things you have ever heard Elvis was but we were having problems.

I caught him in lies, and he was nervous, secretive. I thought he was running around with another woman.

One night I told him I was leaving him. He started crying and said, "I'll tell you everything. Never don't leave me."

He said he couldn't live a lie anymore. He told me he was the real Elvis Presley and then told me the truth about how he faked his death. He said the "death" was planned for a year before it happened.

They did it using himself, the body of a dead wino and a wax figure. He was taken out of Graceland on the night of his death and went almost by the emergency room of the hospital. Then the coverup took over.

It wasn't his body they did the autopsy on. Elvis was 300 pounds or so when he died, that man weighed about 180.

I asked him all kinds of questions and he had all the answers. I even got him drunk one night trying to get him to make a slip, but he never did.

I was an Elvis Presley fan for 25 years. He proved to me a thousand ways he was Elvis Presley.

He wore a beard to disguise his looks, but he was the same height, the same weight, he had the same hands and the same auburn hair color. I went to 187 Elvis concerts and I noticed these things. This guy had all the physical characteristics of Elvis.

Wherever we traveled in those years, three men always went with us. But they didn't stay with us, they just took care of things. He even had the same health problems that Elvis had.

And he still had a drug problem. They'd bring him prescription drugs if he wanted them.

Eventually we parted, but he is still around. I was told my life would be in danger if I told his secret, but it's out now. I want to write a book about my experiences with Elvis.

The man is out there and his fans have a right to know. They have suffered enough.

WORLD EXCLUSIVE!

This woman shared a secret life with The King — 4 years after he supposedly died!

Elvis Presley's former girlfriend, Elizabeth Prince, endured hours of intensive questioning by the Atlanta, Ga., polygraph testing firm Probe Lone Prevention. When asked, "Have you lied about any part of your story about living with Elvis Presley?" Elizabeth answered, "No." The lie detector revealed that she was telling the truth. "I

Boss gets brush-off and goes berserk!

PRETTY Victoria Sando posed for ads in her Corvette.

He guns down employee who wouldn't date him — then shoots himself

By RAFE KLINGER

Pretty blonde Victoria Sando was gunned down on a sunny sidewalk by the ex-boss she had jilted.

Jay "Jack" Ragland, 29, met Miss Sando in front of the Delray Beach, Fla., office of the Florida Unemployment Compensation Agency, pulled out a .38 revolver and pumped two bullets into her chest and one in her left arm.

Stunned and frightened witnesses said Ragland started for his car when he heard Miss Sando screaming.

He then did an about-face, ran back to where she lay and shot her again in the chest.

"She was lucky she didn't yell again," said Rafayi Sirin who witnessed the shooting.

Incredible, the plucky 30-year-old beauty survived her wounds but remains in critical condition at a local hospital.

Ragland, head of a cellular car phone company, then sped off in his home in nearby Deerfield Beach. When police SWAT teams finally stormed the house they found Ragland dead in his bedroom with a bullet hole in his head. He had shot himself.

Authorities believe Ragland stopped after Miss Sando refused to date him and then reported him to the unemployment bureau claiming he'd fired her for rejecting him. Her claim was upheld after a hearing.

"The only thing that I could think of is that he just got frustrated to the point where he snapped," said Ragland's dad Jack Sr.

According to police, Miss Sando had worked for Ragland as a $300-a-week office manager of his cellular car phone company and even posed for company ads in her sleek black Corvette.

After she broke up with her boyfriend and moved out of his place, she moved into an investment home owned by Ragland and the two of them dated. But he evicted her after three months saying she hadn't paid the rent. And he fired her from her job.

Miss Sando filed a complaint with the state unemployment bureau claiming Ragland caused her because she refused to go out with him.

Sources said her complaint got Ragland in hot water with state and federal agencies where found that he had neglected to pay payroll taxes and owed about $7,000.

Still, those who knew Ragland and Miss Sando were left in shock by the senseless shooting and suicide.

"It was over nothing," said Miss Sando's ex-boyfriend.

TEACHER FIREBOMBED!

COURAGEOUS! Mary Strasser is recovering in a hospital and doesn't blame kids who firebombed her.

Gutsy granny nearly loses her hand when kids toss an M-80 into room

By JACK ALEXANDER

Heroic teacher Mary Strasser nearly had her hand blown off when she grabbed a huge firecracker thrown into her classroom and it exploded.

The beloved 71-year-old teacher took the brunt of the blast and saved her students from possible injury. And they haven't forgotten her bravery.

Loving letters from youngsters in her Brooklyn, N.Y., high school class have helped soothe her wound as she recuperates in a hospital.

"I miss your smiles and yelling at us," wrote Keith Smith.

"I gave you a lot of a hard time but I still enjoy you as a teacher. I hope you get better," wrote John Ahten.

The clamor reached insanity when two pranksters tossed a powerful M-80 firecracker into her classroom.

Thinking she had stomped out the sizzling fuse, Mrs. Strasser grabbed the firecracker in her right hand to throw it in a trash can — and it exploded.

"I was bleeding . . . and started to faint weak," she said. Her right hand was a hideous mess. Despite her serious injury, the softhearted teacher still has compassion for the pranksters who were arrested.

Charles Thomas, 16, and Lashawn Perry, 16, were charged with assault, reckless endangerment and possession of a dangerous instrument.

Mrs. Strasser has no ill feelings toward them and hopes they are not sent to jail.

Mummified pilot found in plane 48 years after crash

World War 2 shocker!

By MICKEY McGUIRE

The perfectly preserved corpse of a World War 2 pilot was found still strapped in the cockpit of his fighter plane — on the lake bottom where it crashed on July 14, 1940!

The long-dead French pilot, identified by his dogtags as Andre Mercier, was found in the watertight cockpit of his plane. He looked exactly as he did when he died at the age of 23 — 48 years ago!

"It was as if time had stopped when he died," said Paul Angelet, boss of the dredging team that uncovered the plane on the muddy bottom of a lake in northern Italy. "There wasn't any sign of decay. He still looked like the boy he was when he died."

The fighter plane, believed to be a Dewoatine D-520, was discovered half-buried in the mud by a diver sent down to examine the dredge's dragline. Fortunately, the diver made no attempt to open its watertight canopy.

"That would have been the end," Dr. Anthony Silva said. "The body would have disintegrated by the sudden rush of water. It would have been lost."

Dr. Silva, a forensic pathologist, said Mercier's corpse was kept perfectly preserved for almost a half century by the icy temperature of the lake.

"It was the water temperature that kept the body in its perfect, life-like state," he explained.

"Divers used acetylene torches to cut away the cockpit so that the body could be brought to the surface still unfossilized. Then the canopy was opened and the body was quickly transferred to a commercial fishing boat where it was flash-frozen."

Dr. Silva said Mercier's body was then rushed to the morgue in Turin where it was chemically treated to permanently preserve it.

The body will be returned to France where his widow still lives. There it will be given a full military burial, Dr. Silva said.

"It was a very macabre experience for me to examine the body," he said. "It was like looking at a young man whose life had suddenly ended for no apparent reason.

"There wasn't a mark on his face . . . no indication that it had spent 48 years on bottom in the murky waters of the lake. If I had not known better, I would have thought the body was a figure from a wax museum. It is one of the strangest-than-fiction stories from the war.

"After so many years, that man will return to the land he gave his life to defend."

Motorist rams killer dogs to save woman!

A helpless woman would have been ripped to pieces by two large, kill-crazed dogs if motorist Rob Swain hadn't done the only thing that would have saved her — he rammed the beasts with his car!

As the stunned dogs lay whimpering in the street, brave Rob pulled 53-year-old Rilda Newton into his car and rushed her to the hospital.

The poor woman was walking near her home in Allesley, England, when the two huge, savage rottweilers leaped on her.

She suffered deep wounds on her arms, stomach and buttocks, but is expected to make a full recovery.

The dogs were being held in a pound until their vaccination

Spit and polish!

Japanese-American workers at a West Virginia plant work hard and do a good job, but the big boss says they have a filthy habit — they spit a lot.

So when a spotless state-of-the-art steel coating plant was dedicated in the Ohio River town of Follansbee, Takamasa Yamamura of Wheeling Nisshin Inc. told them to knock it off.

"Spit in your own house, please," he said. "But this is

MADAME DAUDET HAS helped the people of France win State and National Lotteries . . . win at Monte Carlo . . . win at the racetrack.

Her story has appeared in such major European publications as L'Olivier D'Argent, Fratrce Dimanche, Ici Paris and others.

Now, to establish her reputation in America, this extraordinary Numerologist is ready to send you FREE—in a SEALED ENVELOPE—your own personal Magic Number, the one which shines brightest in your astral heaven, plus a complementary number. When properly used, these two Magic Numbers can help you win hundreds and thousands of dollars in every game of chance.

PLUS YOUR BIRTHSTONE FREE!

In addition, she will also send you your very own birthstone FREE! (Be sure to indicate your birthdate in the coupon). The tradition of the birthstone goes back thousands of years to ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome. Wearing the birthstone—even having it in your possession—has brought GOOD LUCK and protection against harm. It is believed that some members of European royalty to this very day wear (or secretly carry) their birthstones as good luck omens.

Is there any catch to this FREE! offer?

No! Sending for your Magic Numbers and birthstone does not obligate you in any way. No agent, salesman or representative will call upon you or phone you. There is no "catch" to this free offer. It is a promotion to publicize Madame Daudet's amazing numerological powers to the American people.

Limited-Time Offer. Coupon is Date-Coded!

If you really want to WIN big at bingo . . . in the lottery . . . at the casino, racetrack, even OTB. If you really want to find love and happiness or even a true friend, do not waste one minute. Go to the coupon right now, fill it out and drop it in the mail.

This offer is for a limited time only. The coupon is secretly dated. Requests received too late will be subject to refusal.

WHAT A WAY TO MAKE A LIVING!

By BEATRICE DEXTER

Divorced dad rents out his body parts

Rinus Shulten hasn't worked a day in three and a half years but he earns thousands of dollars a year — renting out his body parts!

The one-eyed divorced dad collects regular monthly payments for a kidney and cornea he donated in 1985 under a private arrangement. And to supplement that income, the Groningen, Holland, man regularly sells bone marrow, skin grafts and blood!

"Some people say I'm crazy but I'm not. I think this is a perfectly reasonable thing to do," Shulten, 37, told the Amsterdam telegraaf. "Without me, the people who are using my organs would not have the quality of life they have now. And without their money, I couldn't afford to get along with my disabled files."

Shulten is one of an increasing number of profit-minded people who are selling their wares in Europe and the Netherlands, reports say. But he is unusual in that he couple his organs and has made a little more by his flesh and blood than the odd bank of his sperm.

The retired trolley driver (he struggled through an ill-

Other than people are able to donate animals with only one kidney, Shulten has had to be disabled by giving one of his two kidneys away.

But the donation of his organ has not left him with a right to sell — and he is entitled to

He has also donated skin to a local skin bank and will do so again these people — and frequently receiving — approximately to donate bone marrow for leukemia victims.

"Once I go through pain by my money, but I also grow through pain going to work every day at a boring job," Shulten said. "This way, I know I am making a valuable contribution while I'm relaxing — something I wasn't too certain about when I was a trolley conductor."

Shulten lives in an upper-class neighborhood and he drives a luxury car.

When he isn't donating blood or traveling from skin graft to bone marrow procedures, he spends his time lounging in music and playing chess with friends.

"Before I forget about this, a number of my acquaintances have told me they want to do the same thing as my organs, too," Shulten said. "We can blame them." This is a public way to make a "living."

Amazing worms are 2 feet long!

Giant 2-foot-long Gippsland earthworms are the latest tourist attraction in Korumburra, Australia. The creepy crawlers have 16 hearts and can mate with anybody in sight. The protected creatures are an economic boon to Korumburra, discovered a decade ago when the local coal mine went bust and a native plant died down. The slippery worms is now the town's biggest attraction, bring tourists from around the world. The giant suckers slurps and gurgles when it burrows and can grow like a barbed drawing a pipe.

Christina Onassis' plan to lop off pounds with low-cal cola fizzles!

BIG NEWS FLASH — The world's richest girl Christina Onassis has once again flopped in her battle with the bulge.

Tattletales from Europe blab that the tanker queen has outgrown her nickname "Thunderthighs" along with her dress size.

In fact, the tubby tycoonness reportedly is now two dress sizes larger and recently dropped a whopping $250,000 fashion tents. Just how bad is Christina's eating habit?

Spies say Christina's girth expanded along with her bank account despite going on a diet.

Part of that diet was a switch from

GUNSLINGER BITES THE DUST — AND DOESN'T GET UP!

By JACK ALEXANDER

Gawking tourists get more than they bargained for when cowboys staged a mock wild west gunfight — and one of them was shot dead.

The crowd applauded when "bad guy" Gary Drake hit the dust. But then they saw the blood and realized he wasn't faking.

"It was one of those bizarre accidents you'd never dream would happen, but it did," said Idaho Springs, Colo., police officer Ted Schaudt.

Drake, Jr. took the fatal blast in the side from a shotgun fired by his buddy, Ken Jones, 35, said Schaudt.

Jones had loaded the gun before the shootout, shoving black powder into the barrel with a long capping rod with a large brass ball on the end of it, said Schaudt.

"Apparently, when he pulled the capping rod out of the barrel, the brass ball came off and was stuck there," said Schaudt.

"Later, when Jones fired the shotgun during the gunfight, the brass ball struck Drake in the side," he said.

Freak accident kills 'bad guy' in a mock street shoot-out

Jones and other cowboys at the Argo Gold Mine attraction rushed to Drake, who was lying in a pool of blood on a dusty street of the recreated mining town.

A helicopter flew the mortally wounded cowboy to a Denver hospital 30 miles away where he died two hours later. An autopsy revealed the blast severed his spinal cord, collapsed his right lung and caused massive internal damage.

Jones and the victim were roommates at the popular mining town attraction. They had performed the shootout with four other "gunslingers" for about two years.

"We are convinced after our investigation that it was an accident," said Schaudt. It was Jones' job to load all the guns before the shootout. He didn't realize the large ball was lodged in the barrel.

VICTIM of the tragic accident was Gary Drake, who played the bad guy in the tourist attraction's wild west gunfight.

Naked man flashes Queen!

By SAFE SLINGER

England's prim and prudish Queen Elizabeth couldn't keep from cracking a smile when the nag that streaked across the finish line in front of her box at the famed Epsom Derby horse race was not a horse — but a naked man!

Incredible, the staunch propriety of the world's most formal horse race — graced annually by the presence of the stuffy British royal family — was shattered by gallivanting Tony Buckmaster — a building contractor who raced past the royal box without a stitch of clothes.

"The Queen greeted him all right," said one spectator at the race.

"She stared at him with that stony look in her eye at first — but then managed a grin and an exclamation of amusement before she turned away."

Other members of the royal box gave a big hoot out of Tony's fast run. Beside Her Royal Highness Princess Michael of Kent sneaked a peek at the white-haired naked runner.

And the Queen Mother actually burst into laughter as police corralled the frisky nudist.

Tony is the first man to streak through the famed Epsom Downs. The annual horse race is a big affair for royalty — but also celebrities from the four corners of the earth. Some of the stars adding their glitter to the glamorous spectacle were Elizabeth Taylor, Roger Moore and his wife Dorothy, George Hamilton, Diana Ross, Shirley MacLaine and Princess Michael of Kent.

British soldiers and mounted police in full dress uniform lined the route as the streaker made his run. Officers moved in on him as he reached the royal box. Two policemen grabbed him by the shoulders while one held his helmet at his crotch to hide the streaker's private parts.

There were a lot of startled and delighted faces in the spectators — and a surprise at the race. But quietly people turned back to look at the Queen to see her reaction. That was a sight no one will forget — especially not the Queen.

This is what my unique vitamin formula has done for my hair at 50...

Why not find out what it can do for yours...by accepting the first full month's supply of it, FREE, plus 2 other FREE GIFTS for you!

You See, If You Have Problem Hair, Read This—At 50, I Have To Eat 3 Meals All My Hair Every Two Months. Otherwise, It Might Very Well Soon Right Down Past My Waist.

And not only have I developed a special Mane Vitamin formula that helps make it that way, but I'd like to give you your first full month's supply on my free offer.

You see, during the fabulous 60's, I was a hairdresser. I've included the absolutely outrageous photograph of me over here, taken when I was 19 years old. I had this long, flowing hair. I could do anything with it. I could put it up in a beehive, or I could wear it down to my waist. I could do almost anything I wanted with it.

Now I'd like you to look at the second photograph over there. As carefully that if you have a magnifying glass handy, use it now. And tell yourself that I'm not a liar.

I'm not. And the reason I'm absolutely not is because I've been using my own vitamin formula for the past 10 years.

1. Does that look like the kind of hair that would have won a beauty contest? Hardly. It's dull, lifeless and it's pretty thin besides. Far too many of my older customers get that kind of growth because they don't realize how much they should have one kind of vitamin. And if you're willing to spend one short minute on me this, and can relate to me in my situation, you'll be glad you took this step. . . . Just like Alice . . . Alice like Alice—Another like that one, but more to the face as I said some time, and your hair, the absolutely proper vitamins it should have—that just read on.

And To Prove The Power Of These Pearls, I Have To Tell You Just A Little More About My Own Hair Right Now . . .

First of all, because of my gray-age appearance, I now keep my hair exactly 18 inches long. And it's not an illusion and no wiggy thing. I can handle it myself through it. And it has so much life and shine that, when I do a TV commercial for a leading hair conditioner, the producer asked one of the staff to lighten the floor portable up a, as it couldn't blind the camera.

Second, and even more impressive, many of 50, people in my hospital I call the Alice Hair, as a result and as a beauty expert. And as I myself grow older and older, many get about retired begin to believe in essential nutrients—that you can help vastly yourself beautiful and keep yourself beautiful, despite the ravages of years! And you can do this because the fact that you're so much "like the rest" . . . whether in Hawaii, or Scotland, or anything in between. Our secret is the pearl that we have, every single day.

Nowhere has science done the "Make-Good Promise" that these Pearls have done with your hair. For one very simple reason: I have a low-protein blood test of 50 years — that I don't intend and never any fads — that I often don't what this pill is, but a proper blend of nature's and we have DONE it with this.

Jury hears the naked truth

Stripper wife knifes her millionaire hubby

HUBBY Colombel Smeets told jury his wife slashed his hand.

By PETE COOKE

A former stripper could get a year in jail for assaulting her millionaire husband, who is trying to have their marriage annulled to avoid having to pay her $50,000 a year in alimony.

Linda Smeets, a 35-year-old blue-eyed brunette, told jurors deciding the case in New York City that she armed herself with a kitchen knife because her husband was holding a dagger during a bitter argument that erupted in their swank Manhattan apartment.

"He was excited," she said. "He was saying crazy things and his eyes were glaring at me."

Colombel Smeets, a wealthy 41-year-old financier, testified that the spat broke out when his wife insisted he give his loyalty either to her or his three teenage children from a previous marriage.

Smeets said his wife called him "a wimp, a weakling, that sort of thing. I later said that she was an immoral bitch."

Mrs Smeets met her husband while she was working as a stripper in a Washington, D.C., bar in 1981. She said he was still married to his first wife at the time and she became his mistress until they married four years later.

But within a year the Smeets' marriage hit the skids and in August 1986 the violent argument broke out.

Mrs Smeets said her husband had been arguing with his daughter over the phone. "And then he got mad at me. He struck me. He slapped me around. He had a dagger."

Smeets claimed his wife threw a pastry filled beer mug, an ashtray and a pair of scissors at him before cutting his hand. The 1½-inch cut required eight stitches.

The jury deliberated for six hours before they convicted Mrs. Smeets of assault. She faces a maximum possible sentence of a year in jail.

But the sentencing hearing isn't the only dark cloud over the former stripper's horizon.

Smeets is attempting to have the couple's marriage annulled, which would void a prenuptial agreement guaranteeing Mrs. Smeets $50,000 a year for life in the event of a divorce.

John Hoch, Mrs Smeets' attorney, said the assault charges were only filed to help Smeets win his annulment.

"It's an unconscionable use of the criminal justice system to gain an advantage in a civil proceeding case to relieve him of the obligation of paying her," Hoch said.

When the criminal case began, the attorney said the jury would have to decide whether the wife or the husband was telling the truth, since Mrs. Smeets claimed they were both injured during the fight.

"I'd take the word of a stripper over that of a financier any time," Hoch said before the jury deliberated. "At least with a stripper, what you see is what you get."

The wealthy financier contends that his wife lied when she said she was a prostitute, but never said that so before their 1985 wedding. As a result, Smeets claims the couple's marriage should be

Medical board fines him after witness says . . .

Doc slaps dying patient and calls him 'pond scum'

A doctor who allegedly slapped a dying patient and called him a scumbag has been ordered to perform 13 free operations and pay a $10,000 fine.

By JACK ALEXANDER

The Florida Medical Board took the action against Dr. Michael Weinberger, who treated emergency gunshot victim Yves Dermenor at a Lake Worth hospital in 1988.

A lawsuit filed by the victim's widow accused Weinberger, 41, of saying to her husband, "You are going to die, and I don't care." Medical technician John Cubby said he saw Weinberger slap the patient and call him "pond scum," according to the suit. It was also claimed in the suit the pronounced surgeon called the dying man a "creep" and "scumbag."

Weinberger claimed he was just trying to save the man's life. "It turned out he had cocaine all through his body, and that's why he was so unmanageable. He was hysterical and incoherent. I tried to make him calm down."

The lawsuit against Weinberger and Dr. Samir Behnal of failing to take immediate chest X rays and give blood transfusions to the victim.

Dermenor's widow settled the suit out of court for $1.4 million.

In punishing Weinberger, the medical board said his behavior was "absolutely unacceptable not only medically, but humanely."

He also was ordered to undergo stress management counseling.

Weinberger described himself as a perfectionist and told the board he was trying to calm a combative patient.

"You don't have to be physician to be a perfectionist," said board member Dr. Darnell Elam. "This really bothers me, the way you handled the stress and the patient."

Old tree falls on school picnickers

A picnic to mark the end of the school year turned to tragedy when a giant oak tree that stood for 100 years suddenly toppled on students and teachers.

Officials in Santa Rosa, Calif., said six people were hurt and had to be cut free with chain saws after the 70-foot tree fell without warning.

About 100 students and teachers were gathered in a city park when the incident occurred.

"There was an awful sound and the tree fell right on top of everybody," said Carla Gamble, 21. "There was no warning other than this kind of creaking sound."

Don't make fun of sex-change guys

Editors: I'm really beginning to wonder what gives with you guys. It seems that no matter what somebody says, you make fun of them.

Let me show you what I mean. A few weeks back you ran letters from people who said they were sick of reading about sex-change operations. M.W., for example, said anybody who gets a sex-change operation is a fag and a pervert — and only other fags and perverts are interested in reading about it.

Well, you told this guy off and you said maybe he's the one who's the pervert. I read that and I said, "Good for you."

Then in the July 5 paper, P.P. from Chicago wrote in to defend sex-change surgery. He said he was married to a woman who used to be a man.

I thought sure you editors would pat him on the back and give him a word of encouragement — but no, you put him down, too. Get with it. You can't have both sides of the table. Just who do you namby-pambies agree with anyway? — R.C., St. Paul, Minn.

Just because we couldn't bring ourselves to agree with either of those ladies doesn't mean we're too wishy-washy to take an opinion. We say a woman is a woman, no matter which side of an issue she's on. — Editors

The biggest dinosaur was the brontosaurus

Editors: I read your publications regularly and have faith in your articles. Although I believe them, I have noticed you sometimes get your facts mixed up.

In the May 31 paper you stated that the Tyrannosaurus rex was the largest dinosaur, when everyone on God's green earth knows it was the brontosaurus.

Even though there often then not I believe your articles, how do you guys at The NEWS ever expect to maintain such hankerchief when you manage to mess up the simplest of facts? — J.L., Detroit, Michigan.

You mailed us proof on that one, J.L. It just goes to show that even the smartest of us can get our facts confused. You see, all that's left of us here at Weekly World NEWS are two people to remember what the brontosaurus was. Tyrannosaurus rex was the largest dinosaur of the Mesozoic era. But we did check it out — and you're right! — Editors

Parents of boy girl have role in the brain

Editors: I was stunned by your story about the 3-year-old girl in England who drinks a pint of beer every night before she goes to bed. Didn't her drug fiend parents realize that kind of drinking by a baby can leave her with permanent liver damage?

The picture of them posing proudly with their fat little girl and her mug of beer made me absolutely ill!

The girl may want that beer, but to me, letting her have it is a form of child abuse. What's wrong with parents like that? — J.W., Albany, N.Y.

There are lots of 'shy couples' in the world

Editors: I loved the story about the shy couple who waited 14 years to make love and then died doing it. I know just how the guy felt. My wife's hair been hanging around here about 10 years and sometimes it kills me to have to make love to her. — D.P., Holiday, New Jersey

I think God gave me it as a favor to her, right? — Editors

I see red when my husband leaves me black and blue

Dear Dotti: Before we got married, my husband used to whack me on the bottom whenever I did something he thought was naughty. We both took it as fun and he never hurt me. It was just our way of courting.

That was five years ago. Now he really pops me and whenever his shirts aren't ironed, the supper's not ready, the cat runs out of gin, the kids scream, the dog dirs his business in the street, I forget a curler in my hair, he can't find the TV page in the paper — anything and everything. I was brought up to believe the husband is the boss but he's not hunting cup, he's breaking my butt.

He always says the pod thing hurts him more than it does me but I'm the one that's black and blue all the time.

I am in fierce pain the times that make him mad but he always catches me and he sometimes. I'm beginning to wonder if it's really my fault every time things move up. Sometimes I get so upset at his punishment, I just fire up and want to slap him back. Am I wrong in my opinion or mine and daddy's spanking and we tell about this? — Bewildered Turned to Rage, New Hampshire

Neighbors save child from death in cesspool

By SUSAN JIMISON

Terrified Tara O'Gara nearly drowned when she fell into her backyard septic tank and slowly sank into the stinking sewage.

But two courageous neighbors rushed to her assistance and pulled the 4-year-old child to safety. Tara, who lives in Coventry, R.I., was filthy, but otherwise unhurt.

"She is alive because of these two men," said the child's mother, Lisa O'Gara. "They saved her life."

Tara had been playing with her 7-year-old brother Robert on the top of the septic tank when the messy mishap occurred.

"She was out in the backyard with her brother dancing on a cracked cement cover on top of the tank," her mother said. "Suddenly, I heard Robert yelling and screaming, 'Oh, God, save her, save her.'"

Lisa, 31, rushed to the rescue only to find that Tara had plunged through the cover and landed 10 feet down inside the septic tank.

The young mom couldn't squeeze through a narrow opening at the top of the tank, which was still partially covered by the cement slab. But she could see her young daughter below, clinging to a chunk of broken cement.

"I kept telling her to hold on, please don't let go," said the child's mother. "I couldn't get down there.

"We were both crying. She said it was all right, she couldn't hold on and that she was going to die. She said she loved me." Tara's grandmother, Denise DeFalco, heard the commotion and ran from the house.

When she found out about Tara's plight, she ran across a dirt road to nearby houses screaming for help.

"I heard her and I got in my car and said 'wait here,'" said one of Tara's rescuers, Arthur W. Gilbo, 46. "Then I rushed back to my house for rope. But would you believe I didn't have any rope in the whole house!"

Meanwhile, Tara was tiring. Little by little she was sinking into the sewage, her fingers loosening their grip on the deteriorating concrete fragment.

As her mother begged her to hang on, Gilbo returned and managed to slither down inside the septic tank.

"She was three-quarters in human waste," he said.

Gilbo stood on a ledge at the bottom of the tank, pulled Tara out of the muck and handed the child to another neighbor at the top of the tank, Kevin Finnigan.

Tara was taken to a hospital where she was treated for bruises and released.

"I live near Mr. Gilbo and Mr. Finnigan, but I did not know them," said the girl's grateful mom. "I want to make

A hard-pressed homeowner called police to report that someone had broken into his home — and stolen five marijuana cigarettes!

Shocked cops in Detroit, Mich., thought it a little bizarre that a guy would inform them his pot had been pilfered.

Police don't normally get people who admit they have illegal drugs in their possession.

"I would say he's a brave individual in regard that his five joints were stolen," said Lt. Donald Anderson.

Lawmen said they will investigate the burglary. But if they recover the loot, they said, they don't plan on returning it to the 21-year-old victim.

Beloved elephant's ghost saves life of daredevil!

World-famous circus stuntman Sergio Carmona plunged from a tightrope into a raging river and nearly drowned before being snatched from the brink of death — by an eight-ton ghost!

Stunned spectators gasped in astonishment as the ghost of Sergio's dearly departed pal Ernesto the elephant appeared from out of nowhere to whisk his master from a watery grave.

"The rain was being hounded around in those rapids like a rag doll and there seemed no way to save him," wildlife artist Noor Eduardo Ortega told reporters outside of Valdivia, Chile.

"Then suddenly that elephant just materialized out of thin air and waded out and plucked him from the water with his trunk.

"He carried him to the bank, laid him gently down — and the next thing we knew the elephant was gone."

By LAUREL GOWIE

Breathtaking Sergio, a high-wire artist and animal trainer with the famed Flores Bros. Circus, had been buddies with Ernesto for 30 years, before the enormous African elephant died in 1987.

"Ernesto was the best-trained elephant I've ever seen," said Flores Bros. boss Hector Cruz.

"He and Sergio were almost like brothers.

"Sergio was just devastated when Ernesto died.

But the inseparable elephant arrived for a visit from beyond the grave the day Sergio [illegible] tried to walk a tightrope [illegible] the deadly Valdivia River to raise money for [illegible] research.

As 2,000 spectators watched in horror, a gust of wind sent the dazed daredevil tumbling into the swirling water 250 feet below.

Panic-stricken Sergio was floundering helplessly in the raging rapids when the phantom pachyderm came to the rescue.

"Everybody thought Carmona was fatally dead because he was being swept straight toward a waterfall and nobody could help him," salesman Cesar Segura told newspaper reporters.

"There was no elephant around anywhere, but suddenly there he was, pulling Carmona from the water. There was a very weird feeling in the air.

"People were saying, 'Look, it's Ernesto,' even though everyone knew Ernesto was dead. The elephant carried the man to safety in his trunk, and then he just vanished into thin air.

"I never believed in ghosts before but now I do."

Widow billed for sign knocked down in hubby's tragic death

By RAFE KLINGER

It was bad enough that Vida Blossom's beloved husband George died of injuries he got in a traffic accident, but then she was billed $130.82 for a highway sign damaged in the crash.

Now, New Mexico highway department bigwigs admit they goofed when they billed poor Mrs. Blossom, 74, for the sign broken in her husband's fatal wreck.

The bill had contained a "final notice" warning that other action would be taken if it wasn't paid.

Mrs. Blossom paid.

But her furious son-in-law Roger Welch wrote an angry letter to New Mexican authorities.

"I find it hard to believe a state that is eager for retired persons to come and spend the winter would send an elderly woman a final notice before legal action for a sign that was ruined as a result of her husband," he wrote to the state department of highways and the department for economic and tourism development.

Roy Romero, attorney for the New Mexico department of highways, said the letter was a mistake and the state had no idea Blossom had died.

"We sent them a letter. We intended to insure them we were unaware that he had passed away," said Romero.

He said normally those responsible to be paid. According to Romero, Blossom was fatally injured when a county garbage truck stopped to make a turn and Blossom, who was following behind in his motor home, swerved to avoid it. Blossom's vehicle went off the road and flipped. He was later ruled dead following at a safe distance, said Romero.

Cops say teen blew away Good Samaritan!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A partying teen is accused of repaying a woman's kindness by running up a hefty $900 bill on her phone — and killing her when she tried to collect it.

Donald Franks was jailed in Tinton Falls, N.J., in the slaying of divorcee Andrea Healy, who was stabbed to death and dumped beside a road.

Mrs. Healy had introduced Franks, 19, by letting him live in her vacant apartment after his family kicked him out.

"She was a friend of his mother and was concerned that he had no place to go," said assistant prosecutor Robert Shumsky.

The kindness took over[illegible] became a [illegible] caller on a "party line," where boys meet girls and vice versa.

A 15-year-old girl he met through the party line moved in with him.

But the party was over for Franks when Mrs. Healy got the $900 phone bill. She locked Franks and his teeny-bopper roommate out of her apartment, said Monacker.

The hot-tempered teen went berserk during an argument with Mrs. Healy over the bill and stabbed her over and over again in the chest, said Monacker.

Franks is being held in jail on $350,000 bond.

A 13-year-old girl tried to play a trick on her sister and accidentally hanged herself.

The deadly prank claimed the life of Rebecca Smith, whose lifeless body was found dangling from a belt in a closet at her home in Chesterton, Ind.

"It appears she was going to play a trick on her sister and it backfired," said coroner John Evans.

"She was in a closet standing on a motorcycle helmet," he said. "When her sister came in, she was going to suspend her weight and scare her sister.

"Somehow, her feet slipped off the helmet and it became out of reach and she hanged herself."

Jelly bean bride gums up wedding!

DISGUSTED groom Andre Rozier called off his marriage to Pier Constance smack in the middle of the ceremony — when she gagged on a mouthful of jelly beans.

By LAUREL GOWIE

The jet-set wedding of wine tycoon Andre Rozier and his fat fiancee Piet came to a startling halt when the wide-bodied bride tried to say "I do" — and nearly choked to death on a mouthful of jelly beans!

Mid-sweetened pastor Paul Clement gave Pier-round Piet the Heimlich maneuver and saved her life — but astonished Andre refused to go on with the ceremony.

"I'm not going to marry any woman who [redacted] that easily. How can I trust her to make it through our fighting days?" the disgruntled groom told reporters at Nick's Fridge.

This was totally ridiculous!

Handsome Andre, 31, said he'd dated Pier Constance eight months earlier and fell in love with her despite her fleshy physique.

"I'm sorry I cared for fat people, but Pier had a lot of attributes that attracted me to her," he said. "She kept pressuring me she'd stop feeding her face all the time and trim down.

"I really believed she would even though she never quite got around to pounds in a year." But the married hubby-to-be began to doubt ruly-poly Pier's sincerity when she nearly became the first bride in history to be killed by a jelly bean.

"It was the unpolished wedding I've ever attended ever," confessed Pastor Clement later told reporters.

"It was so beautiful that I really couldn't believe my eyes when I saw the bride standing there grasping jelly beans to her mouth during the ceremony.

"Then suddenly she started to gag and turn gray and I knew she was choking. I jumped down and gave her the Heimlich and the candy popped right out."

The beefy bride survived her ordeal, but angry Andre stormed out and left her holding the bag.

"I told her to call me when she's ready to prove she loves me more than

Angry wife drowns hubby and his sweetie — in their waterbed!

By RAFI KLINGER

Jealous wife Heidi Grossbauer doused the blazing love affair between her tycoon hubby and his teenage mistress by drowning the passionate pair in their waterbed.

Then, the murderous wife shocked cops by confessing that it wasn't the fact that her hubby was cheating that bothered her.

"It was the fact that he had bought her a waterbed," Heidi told police in Munich, West Germany.

"I had always wanted one, but he had always refused, saying it would make him seasick."

The bloodthirsty Heidi was sentenced to 20 years in the slammer for the gruesome killing of her wealthy cyclone hubby Max and his 18-year-old girl pal Linda Wallenmeyer.

Heidi got the building doorman to call her when Max was visiting Linda in the posh, four-bedroom penthouse love nest he was keeping her in.

Reaching in, she found the passionate pair sleeping naked, nude by one in a waterbed. The enraged wife then clobbered the slumbering couple senseless with an axe handle. Cutting foot-and-a-half slits in the bed the forced their heads inside and under the water for 30 minutes.

"I didn't know how long it took for people to drown," recalled Heidi, "so I played safe and held them under the water just as long as I could stand it. Finally, I was sure they were dead.

"So I left them and phoned the police to tell them what I had done."

The vengeful Heidi claimed her hubby Max was well into cheating. On their 10th wedding anniversary, he left her to celebrate alone on the pretense of seeing some business associates. But he really went to a brothel to romp with call girls. That was when he met Linda and set her up in a play apartment, Heidi claimed.

Peach-lover's marriage goes to the dogs

Peach-lover Elaine Smith's marriage went to the dogs — when she put hubby Lee into the doghouse because he was jealous of her pups!

Elaine, 34, said she kicked out hubby Lee, 34, just days after her spaniels Mandy and Alsatian Tara stood up for them at their wedding, featured recently in The NEWS.

"My dogs are far more important to me than humans but my husband wouldn't accept that," Elaine said. "We split up because of my love for my dogs, but I would much rather love him than them."

The blushing bride dressed Mandy as a page-boy and gussied up Tara as a bridesmaid. The mutts served as wedding witnesses.

Sadly, Lee said the doggone critters — along with Elaine's other pup and pussycat — got in his way at home in Woodgate Valley, England.

"I knew the dogs came first," Lee said. "There was no room, we just could not cope with all of them in such a small flat."

'Drop dead' florist offers sweet revenge

By JON ORMAN

Crafty [illegible]yn Burke is a florist with a flair for vengeance. [illegible] fun-loving lady makes her living selling cranked roses and dried-up daisies — to clients who want to tell that special someone in their lives to drop dead!

When folks in Virginia Beach, Va., have a note they want tweaked or an ego they want trampled, they call conniving Carolyn.

And for $22.50, the Drop Dead Florist will fix up the droopiest, driest bouquet of flowers you've ever seen and hand deliver them to your worst enemy — along with a scathing message of your choice.

Or for 10 bucks more, you can get the put-down deluxe — 12 dead roses in a metallic skull vase.

The week her doors opened for business, angry Carolyn discovered there's gold in those long-gone, long-clammed American families.

"It's been absolutely crazy," said the dead-pan florist.

"The phone never stops ringing.

"It seems like everybody has somebody they want to tell to drop dead."

Once in a while, someone wants defunct flowers sent to a birthday or anniversary party as a joke, but most of the time the message is meant to hurt, Carolyn said.

"A lot of people send them to ex-husbands or ex-wives or ex-lovers," she said. "And the messages they send can be very hateful and profane.

"One woman sent 50 dead roses to her former boy friend's fiancee on the day she was getting married. Her message said: 'A bouquet for your wedding day and no more for your future.'"

Besides being profitable, the dead-flower game keeps Carolyn up on the latest gossip in town.

"You won't believe the stories I hear," she said. "People tell me their most intimate secrets — and then they'll ask me for advice on how to handle their problems.

"Sometimes I feel more like Dear Abby than a florist."

The hair-pulling wife and mom buys faded flowers from wholesalers and leaves them lying around for a couple of weeks — until they're dead enough for duties.

"You can't beat it," she said. "The overhead is low and there's no competition."

Florist Carolyn Burke delivers a bouquet of dead roses to a grieving ex-wife's door.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Slashes caloric absorption

SWEDEN: Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery enables an overweight individual to lose pounds and carry pounds without dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astonished to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of the study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in persons who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at Sweden's Sahlgren Hospital, University of Gothenburg. Again, all patients lost a substantial amount of weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing the study published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated, "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." The patient in the study lost more than 30 people.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural banana blossom and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before meals it helps with the food you eat and "blocks up" calories, preventing them absorption.

A substantial portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system undigested. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, and it starts to burn superfat. The result is rapid body weight loss. Extensive clinical tests have verified the safety of this formula for long term use.

The formula is marketed in tablet form in the United States under the trade name Cal Rite 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of the company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost up to 10 pounds the first week and as much as 20, 40 or 60 or more pounds overall with Cal Rite 3000. This is a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal Rite 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3 week supply and $36.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. To ensure fastest service, orders are accepted by toll-free phone only. VISA, MasterCard, Amex and C.O.D. orders are accepted. Call 1-800-258-3330. During this special phone order promotion purchasers of a one week supply of Cal Rite 3000 will receive absolutely free a beautiful 24" strand elegant necklace of sparkling Chinese Faux pearls.

Mom-to-be Mandy Watkins slid into the tub when her labor pains hit for a soothing bath before going to the hospital — and out popped her baby.

"I thought a nice soak would set me up," said the astonished 23-year-old Bridgend, England, woman.

The relaxing warm water did more than that. It gave Mandy's newborn son Ben his first dip. Ben became a bath-tub baby as his dad Roger helped ease him into the world.

Roger, 25, was rushing to get things together for a trip to the hospital when he heard his wife cry out from the bathroom.

"She was trying to get out of the bath but I told her to stay put. Then I knelt down, put my hands under the water and delivered him."

Roger did such a good job that Mandy didn't even have to go to the hospital afterwards.

Wealthy couple is slapped in the pokey after a spat over parking at mansion

A rich couple was led out of their mansion in handcuffs and jailed after calling the cops on each other in a spat that erupted when he refused to move his Lincoln so she could park her Jaguar in the garage next to her Mercedes.

Michael Koral said the trouble started when his wife, Rhona, came home from playing cards with her friends and complained to him about not having room to park her car outside their $2 million mansion in exclusive Brookville, Long Island.

Koral, 46, said he was dozing in his den when the fight broke out.

"She kicked me awake and told me to move the Lincoln," Koral said.

"I refused. The driveway's 800 feet long and has room for 15 cars."

Koral said his wife barked him in the eye and they both ran for the phone and called police.

When authorities arrived they slapped handcuffs on the bickering husband and wife and hauled them off to jail.

He was booked for harassment and she was booked for assault.

"I tried to talk the cops out of it," said Dominic Barbara, Koral's lawyer. "But they said they'd been called to the mansion 31 times and weren't going to take it anymore."

The Korals were released after spending the night behind bars.

Koral, who owns Bernie's Discount Electronics store, said he and his wife have been in the process of getting a divorce for more than a year.

"We've been married for 12 years, two of them happy," he said.

Koral said he hasn't moved out of the mansion because "New York divorce laws are so screwed up that if I leave I could jeopardize my property rights and it would take another three years to finalize the divorce."

As it is, the Korals have an August 24 divorce court hearing, but in the meantime they must try to maintain an uneasy truce in the home they both share.

"She's got her bedroom and I'm living in the den," Koral said.

"The rest of the house is supposed to be shared."

The parking situation continues to be a problem, though, said Koral.

"The afternoon we were released from custody the parked Jag was back only from

Doctors turned my little boy into a vegetable, says mom

Doctors turned an 8-year-old boy into a human vegetable during surgery to stop his chronic bed-wetting, his distraught mother claims.

Elaine O'Rourke, of Bay Ridge, N.Y., brought up the incident, which happened in 1978, during a congressional hearing on a plan for a national restaurant guide that would rate hospitals and doctors the same way as cars and air-conditioners are rated.

She said her son Patrick had a 15-minute operation to stop his persistent bed-wetting when he was a boy of 8 and has been a complete invalid ever since.

"Today, at age 18, he is confined to a bed and wheelchair," said Mrs. O'Rourke. "He cannot feed, speak or do anything for himself whatsoever.

"We don't know if he understands anything we say to him," she said.

"If I had a gun those doctors would not be walking the street."

A spokesman for the hospital where O'Rourke was operated on called the situation tragic and said that "nobody in this day knows what happened for sure."

Small Company's New Golf Ball Flies Too Far; Could Obsolete Many Golf Courses

Pro Hits 400-Yard Tee Shots During That Round

Want To Shoot An Eagle or Two?

By Mike Hanson

MERIDEN, CT — A small golf company in Connecticut has created a new, super ball that flies like a U-2, putts with the steady roll of a cue ball and bites the green on approach shots like a dropped cat. But don't look for it on weekend TV. Long-hitting pros could make a joke out of some of golf's finest courses with it. One pro who tested the ball drove it 400 yards, reaching the green on all but the longest par-fours. Scientific [illegible] by an independent lab using a hitting machine prove the ball out-distances all major brands dramatically.

The ball's extraordinary distance comes partly from a revolutionary [illegible] dimple design that keeps the ball aloft longer. But there's also a secret change in the core that makes it rise faster off the clubhead. Another change reduces air drag. The result is a ball that gains altitude quickly, then sails like a glider. None of the changes is noticeable in the ball itself.

Despite this extraordinary performance the [illegible] pany has a problem. A spokesman put it this way: "In golf you need endorsements and TV publicity. This is what gets you in the pro shops and stores where 95% of all golf products are sold. Unless the pros use your ball on TV, you're virtually locked out of these outlets. TV advertising is too expensive to buy on your own, at least for us.

"[illegible], you've seen how far this ball can fly. Can you imagine a pro using it on TV and eagle-ing par-fours? It would turn the course into a par-three, and real men don't play par-three's. This new fly-power forces us to sell it without relying on pros or pro-shops. One way is to sell it direct from our plant. That way we can keep the name printed on the ball a secret that only a buyer would know. There's more to golf than tournaments, you know."

The company [illegible]tees a golfer a prompt refund if the new ball doesn't cut five to ten strokes off his or her average score. Simply return the balls — new or used — to the address below. "No one else would dare do that," boasted the company's director.

If you would like an eagle or two, here's your best chance yet. Write your name and address and "Code Name S" (the ball's R&D name) on a piece of paper and send it along with a check (or your credit card number and expiration date) to National Golf Center (Dept. H-836), 500 S. Broad St., Meriden, CT 06450. Or phone 203-238-2712, 8-6 Eastern time. No P.O. boxes, all shipments are UPS. One dozen "S" balls cost $21.95 (plus $1.95 shipping), two to five dozen are only $19.50 each, six dozen are only $99.00. You save $43.00 ordering six. Shipping is free on two or more dozen. Specify white or Hi-Vision yellow.

QUEEN SUED FOR $50 MILLION BY SMOKER'S WIDOW

NO COMMENT: England's Queen Elizabeth stops speaking, say Buckingham Palace insiders but she has been silent on the lawsuit.

ROYAL ANCESTOR: Sir Walter Raleigh is credited with introducing tobacco to Europe.

By SARAH DUNN

An English widow says Queen Elizabeth caused her late husband's lung cancer and has sued her for 50 million bucks!

Edith Spooner reasons that the royal's ancestors encouraged Sir Walter Raleigh to bring tobacco back from America 400 years ago, giving birth to cigarettes.

One of Europe's top lawyers filed the suit for Mrs. Spooner and says he fully expects the case to go to trial, possibly as early as September or October.

Her husband, Ben Spooner, smoked four packs a day until his death on April 1st at the age of 48.

"If that awful man hadn't brought us tobacco back from the colonies my dear dear husband would be alive today," Mrs. Spooner, who now lives in Austria, told reporters in Vienna.

"I hold Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and her ancestors responsible. They might just as well have put a gun to his head and pulled the trigger."

Mrs. Spooner's suit sounds preposterous but her lawyer thinks she has a case. Peter Kaiser said a growing number of smokers and their families are demanding that tobacco firms be held accountable for lung cancer and other cigarette-related deaths.

"The next logical step is to hold century-members liable," he said.

The Queen has not been available for comment. But sources at Buckingham Palace admit that she "is ill to be tied" over Mrs. Spooner's lawsuit.

"The Queen is a shrewd herself," said one insider. "That makes her a victim of tobacco as much as anyone else."

Legal scholars have been reluctant to talk about the case for fear of offending the royal family.

But privately bigwig barristers are said to be licking their chops. "For pure entertainment value, dragging the Queen into a London courtroom to defend her ancestors will be hard to top," said one London attorney.

"This whole thing will be even funnier if Her Majesty loses and has to pay off." The newspapers will go crazy."

...because royal ancestors were tobacco pushers!

Rock star's baby girl killed by 'pet' leopard

By RICK DONOVAN

Toddler Nikka Savage was granted only two brief years of life before her tiny body was ripped to pieces — by the "tame" leopard her rock 'n' roll dad used in his nightclub act!

Officials in Nashville, Tenn., have ruled Nikka's death a tragic accident. But Joe Savage believes it was an unavoidable act of fate.

"I think that He (God) protected Nikka from growing up in this world ... this society that's worse than any Amazon jungle," the father told reporters.

"We have no choice over life and death," the flashy-and rock singer added. "The cage was locked. How and why this happened is nothing short of mystical." But if God was "protecting" little Nikka, He did it in a cruel way. The 2-year-old tot was horribly mauled and died of head wounds, blood loss and shock.

Death came to Nikka on a farm (not as she played in the yard of her parents' 300-acre estate near Nashville. Taboo, another one of Savage's supposedly "harmless" leopards had somehow gotten out of their cages.

Taboo, a 7-year-old male, leaped on the helpless child and savagely bit and mauled her. By the time help arrived, Nikka had lost so much blood that she didn't survive the trip to the hospital.

"The cat was captured almost immediately and put into a cage," state Wildlife Management Agency official Ray Tew told The NEWS. "It had been tranquilized and died in it, not being taken to the agency compound. It appeared to be in shock."

Savage often used leopards and snakes in his nightclub rock 'n' roll routine.

He was performing in Las Vegas when his daughter was killed.

TAME? Rock singer Joe Savage believed this leopard that he used in his cage act was domesticated. He was dead wrong.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

You've had a real struggle keeping things together in recent weeks. But you're about to climb the final mountain. Like all good Geminis, you keep your eye on the donut — not on the hole!

Seek out a close friend you enjoy being with and allow yourself to unburden your soul. Don't feel bad about unloading your worries on a friend. After all, that's what friends are for.

Twilight weekend activities with food and quiet times.

CANCER

June 21-July 22

Your current Capricorn sensitivity to the needs of others may leave you vulnerable to those certain of your ability to accomplish any task. Be wary of buddy-buddy overtures from those you know couldn't care less about you.

The week ahead will be jam-packed with geeky little problems and home ends that will have your head in a spin. But worry not. Like a miracle, it will all come together.

Face the weekend with a smile on your lips and a glow in your heart.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Your natural Leo confidence holds you in good stead as you approach those in charge with a new idea. The power of your positive thinking will be contagious and help you get approval.

There's been some petty bickering among family or friends and the constellations threaten to break out into a raging feud. Help smooth over differences.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Your Virgo tendency to be helpful could backfire as someone you try to aid mistakes your interest as a lack of confidence in their ability to perform the task at hand. To avoid a crisis, don't try and help. Help the person by giving suggestions only when asked.

You've been keeping yourself up at home with chores. This weekend is a good time to get out and socialize with pals.

A special someone finds you especially attractive at this time.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Present with caution, Libra. Confidence and caution could be nothing all about you this week. But it'll pay you to step aside and let the others do the thinking. There's a real danger that you'll step on the wrong toes if you join in the battle — and that's something you definitely don't need now.

A spur-of-the-moment decision could bring new adventure into your life. Follow through.

A phone call may offer a reason to celebrate.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Go get 'em, friend. If life seems to have lost some of its old pizzazz, you're no one to blame but yourself. This is the week to add flash to your wardrobe, take a trip to some out-of-the-way place or rekindle an old romance.

Your outfit can add light up a room, or let 'er rip.

A wild story could spell trouble if you allow yourself to be taken in. Make them prove it.

Your lucky numbers could be especially important now.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

You may encounter a few blocks to your endeavors this week, but don't despair. Friends and acquaintances will again convince you of your talents and strengths and your work will end on an up note.

A casual contact in the next few days may result in a major change in your life into on. Stay open to new experiences.

You are the life of a small child. Every ounce of love you shower on this little person will come back to you doubled.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Old Mother brings hot prospects for most Capricorns this week as unusual opportunities present themselves in money matters.

Go slowly. Think carefully and mine this picture to make financial gains.

Your planets indicate that this is a good time to help loved ones with personal problems. Make the effort to contact family and friends and find out how they're doing.

Use your sense of humor to brighten up others this week.

If your birthday is this week . . .

The year ahead promises to be one of the most productive of your life. If you have a job, expect a raise or promotion or both. Look for exciting new friends to improve your outlook and boost your social life as well.

Cash from unexpected sources can put your bank account considerably if you resist the urge to spend it unnecessarily. A sweepstakes prize is not out of the question, but remember, You have to enter to win!

Family members rally around you during a summer crisis. Guard your health scrupulously — you'll need all the vigor and stamina you can muster to complete an important project.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

If you're not having much fun these days, it may be because your life is too structured. Punch a few holes in your right trip-style and let the good times in.

Don't worry about what people say about you. Folks are going to gossip and there's little you can do to stop them — except, maybe, a face-to-face talk.

You have untried talents that could turn your life around. Give yourself time to be something artistic and imaginative.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Stop and think before you speak this week to avoid unnecessary problems. You're a pessimistic Pisces and could be misinterpreted.

An old friend or acquaintance may bring surprising good news this week. You could be just around the corner from a financial windfall.

A problem at home or work may have others asking for your help. Don't take sides. Listen carefully and be diplomatic in dealing with them.

Hubby handcuffed to [redacted] for [redacted] years

Prisoner of love!

A jea[redacted] handcuffed her husband to her [redacted] for 10 years to keep him from chasing other women — but here's the clincher:

By IRWIN FISHER

The man was 45 years old when she first took him prisoner and he didn't get free until he was in his mid-70s!

"The guy would still be cuffed if his wife hadn't gotten sick and required a doctor's attention," Police Lt. Federico Ponce Martin told reporters in Ciudad Real, Spain.

"It's a remarkable thing," he added. "The man is certainly nothing to look at. I don't think he could have found another woman if he had tried."

The handcuffed man, Felipe Gamboa Castello 78, refused to press charges against his wife, said the cop.

Maria Castello, also 78, remains in a Ciudad Real hospital where she is undergoing treatment for a heart condition, he said.

Castello, a retired schoolteacher, was outspokingly rude about his imprisonment in spite of its embarrassing nature.

He told newspapers that his wife of 52 years had always been extremely possessive of him and was terrified that he would leave her for another woman.

"To tell you the truth, I did chase the ladies," said Castello. "Maria finally got fed up and handcuffed us together while I was sleeping so she could keep an eye on me at all times. At first, I went along with it to humor her. After awhile it just seemed natural for us to go everywhere and do everything together.

"She sat beside the tub when I took a bath. When we went out to public we held hands and were long-sleeved so nobody would see the cuffs."

Now that he's free, Castello has decided he would like to stay that way.

"I spoke to my wife about it and I don't think she'll do anything like this again," he said. "We're both pretty old now.

"The episode has [illegible] probably the first thing on [illegible] minds."

Doctors CAREFULLY remove killer bug after . . .

Scorpion crawls into man's ear!

Suffering salesman Saleh al-Makhlafi found out why he had such an earache when doctors removed a killer scorpion.

By JOE BERGER

Anguished salesman Saleh al-Makhlafi had a god-awful earache and he couldn't figure out why till doctors took a look — and found a deadly scorpion hiding in his ear!

Then, to make matters worse, docs got the terrifying creature so ticked off he stung Saleh in the ear canal and the father of four had to be shot full of antitoxin to save his life.

"What a nightmare that was. The slimy-up machinery salesman Saleh is putting in Riyadh, South Arabia.

"Nothing ever hurt me that bad in my entire life. I really thought I was going to be reincarnated as the bug who died because he got a splinter in his ear.

Saleh's hospital ordeal unfolded as he attended a sales conference in Riyadh, several hundred miles from his home in Dawasah.

"This girl sat in this hotel and it wasn't like 'hot' he said with a shrug. "There were bugs around and I said . . . no one's military professional . . . [illegible] . . . but I didn't think any of those bugs could kill me. And I didn't [illegible] . . . and I slept.

Saleh fell asleep the night in his [illegible] room and woke up with a throbbing earache.

It got so bad he [illegible] that night I couldn't stand it anymore . . . [illegible] . . . went to the hospital and a doctor started poking around in his ear — and when he saw that scorpion he almost fainted.

"Most scorpions don't kill you, but this one was deadly and that doctor knew it.

The [illegible] was so shocked he called in a colleague and the two of them tried to pluck the poisonous bug from Saleh's ear. They were playing tough to them and all of a sudden that thing stung me," Saleh recalled.

He got a shot that night and woke up recently in the hospital.

World's oldest dental assistant

By JACK ALEXANDER

At 93, spunky spinster Janie Moorer still rolls out of bed at 4 a.m. six days a week and goes to work at a dentist's office.

As America's oldest working registered dental assistant, she has outlived three of the four dentists she's worked for in the past 70 years.

When Miss Janie took her first dental job in Charleston, S.C., they could get a tooth extracted for 75 cents and a full set of choppers for $40.

Times have changed but not Miss Janie. "I get sleepy early, rise and go," she said. "I have a good time."

[illegible] a few months ago [illegible] Carolina Governor James B. Edwards for pioneering the way for dental assistants in the state.

And she had some advice to live by. "Take care of your teeth as long as you have any to take care of," she said.

"When they're gone, you're gone. People are still frightened of the dentist," she said. "It's the fear of pain. They hold it up on their mouths. They're afraid they're going to be hurt."

Getting a tooth drilled today is much less painful compared to the old days. The dentist used a foot pedal to keep the drill going and after awhile his foot gave out, she said.

Preachers fall prey to con gal

Several preachers have been conned out of big bucks by a conniving, silver-tongued young woman who believes that charity begins at church.

The sweet-talking gal usually asks for $75 so she won't get "kicked out on the streets," said Rev. Bill Sanum of Allentown, Pa.

"She indicates that she is in danger of being evicted, has tried to find help in other places and has come to the church," he continued.

"She sounds like a young-er woman with a very appealing voice.

"It is very soft and gentle, sounds like a person who needs help."

Her scam is based on the Christian message, "Ask and ye shall receive," but she went to the well once too often. Everyone's wise to her.

The woman told Rev. Grant Wiebers she needed food.

"I offered her a trip for the food bank, but she said she couldn't come down and get it. I asked if she could send a friend," he said.

No one showed up.

SHE DIDN'T KNOW SHE WAS PREGNANT!

Bathroom birth was total surprise

Flabbergasted Lelia Arnold got the shock of her life when she sat down on a toilet and had a baby — because she didn't know she was pregnant.

Mrs. Arnold was visibly shaken when she emerged from the bathroom of her London, Ontario, home and told her hubby she thought she had a miscarriage.

But her stupefied husband Wayne found a fully-developed baby girl in the toilet.

The new dad gave the infant "a good severe whack" to get her breathing.

"She didn't even realize she was pregnant," said Wayne. "I didn't know myself."

Mrs. Arnold, 35, had gained a lot of weight, but the couple attributed the added weight to a delicate brain operation last May.

The baby weighed 7 pounds, 6 ounces.

DEAD PSYCHIC TELLS

50 distinguished scientists witness electrifying

Fifty scientists listened in shock and disbelief as a dead psychic told of her life in heaven!

French seer Sylvia Menard reportedly appeared before the experts as a shimmering white specter and typed out her 800-word message on a word processor.

"It was the most dramatic display of paranormal phenomenon I have ever witnessed," Dr. Flemming Sorensen, the Danish psychologist, told reporters in Brussels, Belgium.

Norman Kruger, the German physicist, said "The demonstration has altered my view of the world forever."

Paranormal expert Marc Lignel organized the Brussels conference after the death of Miss Menard, 50, on January 2.

He said the experiment was something they had discussed at length after she was diagnosed as having inop-

MIGHTY PURTY: Bill Flynn's '63 Ford Galaxie, right, is the spittin' image of Sheriff Taylor's.

Mayberry drives him car-azy

By JOE BERGER

Down-home deejay Bill Flynn dreams of the day he can hop into his shiny Sheriff of Mayberry squad car and cruise the highways and byways of North Carolina — just like straight-shootin' Sheriff Andy Taylor.

Nostalgia buff Bill is so hooked on the old Andy Griffith Show that he already has a precise replica of the patrol car Sheriff Andy used to drive — complete with whip antenna and rotating red light.

And when he dons his dandy brown Sheriff of Mayberry uniform, smiling Bill is the spittin' image of the folksy sheriff who patrolled the trouble-free town that never was seen in the 1960s.

But the Kernersville, N.C. disc jockey can't do any patrolling of his own. Regular lawmen have watched him his old '63 Ford Galaxie looks too much like a cop car to take on the open road.

Indignant Bill has appealed all the way to the governor's office for permission to drive his pride and joy anywhere he darn well pleases — just like Andy Taylor used to do. But so far he's gotten nothing but guff.

"It's really an outrage — an insult to the memory of Mayberry," said the frustrated father of two young sons.

Besides, he reasons, how is anybody going to mistake a car with an AUNT BEE license plate on the rear for an honest-to-goodness cop car.

Laid-back Bill has been America's No. 1 Mayberry buff for years. Not only was The Andy Griffith Show set to his neck of the woods, it portrayed a way of life Bill — and millions of others of us — found irresistible.

"Mayberry was a town of innocence," he says, "where the problems were only as rable career in the fall of ONT.

"Sylvia's psychic abilities were unequalled, so we felt like she would be able to communicate from beyond the grave," said the expert.

"Of course, we never imagined anything like this. Sylvia spent 25 minutes in the auditorium typing her message in front of 50 researchers.

"She gave us a fantastic glimpse of heaven. And she did it on a word processor to prove that it wasn't a hoax."

The exhibition was off-limits to reporters and Lignel refused to release a transcript of her message, which will be included in a book on psychic phenomenon that is expected to be released next year.

He did release an excerpt, however, which described heaven as a place of "perfect peace and higher consciousness where all people go when dead."

"There is a God," continued the dead psychic.

"And He is all true believers think He is and more. Don't be afraid to die.

"There is nothing but happiness in heaven. It is a glorious place of loving and peace."

In parting, Miss Menard reportedly predicted that cataways including the kind that killed four, will be eased within two years.

She also said that Jesus Christ, who is now in heaven, will return to Earth very soon."

A jubilant Lignel said: "Sylvia has completed her mission and will not return to us again. In my way of thinking she doesn't have to.

"She has given hope and comfort to us all."

THE SPIRIT of world-famous French psychic Sylvia Menard, right, has startled the scientific world.

'She gave us a fantastic glimpse of the afterlife'

Even the front license plate is identical to the one on the car Barney and Andy used to keep the peace and haul Helen and Thelma Lou around on double dates.

But except for appearing in parades and car shows, this gleaming piece of Mayberry memorabilia has remained under wraps ... a victim of too much law and order.

Man bounced from 2nd-story lounge

Arnold Pacheco was recuperating in a hospital after cops said he got tossed out of a bar — from the second floor.

Pacheco, 28, was arguing with a woman in a Miami, Fla., lounge when a man ran in and began punching him, cops said.

The man slugged Pacheco several times, dragged him over to a balcony railing and tossed him to the pavement two stories below, said police.

Kevin Jones, 25, was charged with attempted murder.

EXERCISE FIGHTS CANCER, SAYS DOC

A top scientist says exercise is a virtual vaccine that can prevent a number of lethal cancers.

Rose Kushi, associate professor at the Harvard School of Public Health, said: "Nonexercising women have a two-and-a-half times greater breast cancer as those who exercise on a regular basis. Men and women who exercise are also less likely to get colon cancer."

There are other benefits of exercise as well. Dr. Harvey Simon of the Harvard Medical School says regular physical activity will keep the un-
